ALLSTAR MAGNETICS LLC CONFLICT MINERALS DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

In regards to the specifics of the Dodd-Frank use of conflict materials act Allstar Magnetics is a licensed distributor of several lines of hard magnets, soft ferrite cores and associated hardware products. Allstar does not participate in the actual manufacture of these pieces.

Therefore, as a distributor we do not use or process “raw materials” as such in our fulfillment of the purchase orders placed by our customers. We have no knowledge of the specific content of these parts or of the origin of the raw materials used in the manufacture of the parts that we sell beyond that which is stated by the OEM at the time of purchase by Allstar.

As specifically defined by the Securities and Exchange Commission Allstar Magnetics is not a publicly traded entity nor is it required to file reports with the SEC under the Exchange Act. Allstar Magnetics is not deemed to have influence over the manufacturing of the products sold to our customers.

The manufacturers who do retain control or influence of this process either have or are currently drafting specific statements regarding the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform Act freely available to the public at large via their websites. Please consult the manufacturer websites to obtain more information.
